MVC to purpose offer to purchase the Olds/ Didsbury Airport

by Tamara Collins and Dan Singleton

The Olds/Didsbury Airport uld soon see new ownership. Mountain View County is considering buying the airport, after the Olds and Didsbury Towns came together and submitted a proposal to them.

A committee comprised of representatives from the three municipalities has been in discussions regarding the matter for several months.

During a special County council meeting Friday, county councillors passed a motion to have an offer to purchase pre-

"The towns have been oper-ating it and they wish to divest themselves of that airport. The county is looking at it as a pos-sible owner," said Reeve Ian Harvie.

Vandals cause thousands of dollars worth of damage in Cremona

By Shawne Mohl

Vandals went on a window shing spree last week, July 11, causing thousands of dollars worth of damage to about nine vehicles as well as smashed in nearly 30 windows at the local school in the Village of Cremona.

Didsbury RCMP are continuing to investigate, but according to Cpl. Conal Archer a metal pipe, take from one of the vehicles which was the target of these vandals, was recovered and the investigais ongoing.

"We still have some investigatto do." Archer said. "We ing to do," Archer said. "We haven't identified anybody that we are going to charge at this time however the investigation is pending and we are hopeful the matter will be solved.

When Archer was asked the ages of any suspects RCMP have, he simply replied, "No, I couldn't tell you that anyhow."

Archer says that residents of Cremona shouldn't have to worry, as this is a very isolated

"This is just an isolated incident. Someone has just gone and smashed a whole pile of windows and at this point we don't believe there is any motive behind this indent," Archer added. A Village of Cremona reside who wished to remain anonymous, says that the police presence in the Village isn't adequate and needs to be increased.

Archer says that he believes his officers spend as much time as possible in the Village, and do as good of a job as they can.

"We don't have to be there for any specific period of time. We have to answer complaints there and we try to spend as much time there as possible. We are there every night, that's for sure," Archer said. Cremona's Mayor Donna Kelly says that the Village's administra-tion are going to be talking with RCMP to see if there is anything more that can be done, as far as

Kelly says that there is an interest to have a Citizens on Patrol task team formed, but residents fear if they were to vol-unteer their time and report illegal activity that their prop-erty might be the next to be

"Some have said that they wouldn't mind doing it. But, the problem is that a lot of people are afraid that if they report something that they may have to end up going to court to testify and that their prop-erty would be the next one to be hit," Kelly said. Vicki Terrick, a Cremona resident who moved her family from Cochrane five years ago for the safe, small town feeling isn't happy about the incident.

"I was pretty upset. I guess when you work as hard to get your own stuff organized, such as we are renovating our front area, and we are trying to go away on holidays right away and now we have to spend $500 that I didn't need to spend on win-dows... it is frustrating," she said.

Terrick says that she does feel a bit better that it wasn't a personal attack against her family, but still hopes that these window smashing vandals will be caught soon by the RCMP.

Man punched girl

A 44-year-old man who punched a 14-year-old girl in the face during an incident in Bowden last month has been fined. Robert Wollman pleaded guilty July 12 to a charge of assault causing bodily harm.

The accused and the victim's mother got into a physical con-frontation shortly after 10 p.m. on June 4, court heard.

When the accused pushed the woman to the ground, the wom-an's 14-year-old daughter intervened. The accused then punched the girl in the face, cutting her lip

I regret that it ever happened, the accused said.

In response, Judge Gilbert said: "I think anyone who punches out a 14-year-old girl after throwing her mother to the ground needs treatment."

The accused admitted being under the influence of alcohol at the time of the incident.

The judge placed Wollman on probation for 18 months and fined him $600. He also prohibited him from drinking liquor for 18 months and ordered him to submit a sample to the national DNA

Axe swinger pleads guilty

A man charged after swinging an axe at several people on rural property near Carstairs has been ordered to complete community service hours.

Ryan Bradley Martin pleaded guilty on July 12 to charges of uttering threats, mischief and poson of a weapon.

Police were called to the resience shortly after 6 p.m. on March 27 for a complaint of a man out of control, court heard.

Witnesses said the accused got into an argument with several people at the location. After a time he threatened a man with a stick

Didsbury's New High School Update- Part 2

by Ian Tayler

This article's focus is a description of the site plan for the new school. The accompanying diagram shows the irregularly shaped fif-teen acre site immediately east of the County Office with the school building and parking area located in the north section of the lot. The rationale for this location is to provide ready access to the school both from 15th ave. to the north and 16th st to the east where school buses will deliver and collect their passengers. The section of 15th ave. just north of the school will be widened to provide a safe student drop off for private vehicles.

For those leaving their ve hicles at school there will be a parking lot accessible off 15th ave. The access road will later be extended south to serve the future subdivision.

The outline of the school indicates that this building will be visually interesting and a sharp contrast with the "blocky" institutional look of the present high school. (More on that in the next article). The building is oriented on a north west south east axis in order to take best advantage of the sun's position throughout the year and the dotted lines to the south east show where classrooms can be added in the future when the population increases. Pathways indicate where the school can be accessible from the west north and

The proposed playing field layout is tentative. It shows a soccer multi purpose field surrounded by an athletic track and a ball dia-mond. We have yet to dismond. We have yet to dis-cuss with the town council what recreational facilities they would like to develop on the site.

As I said before the design team has decided that as much of the funding as possible should be devoted to the building. That leaves the landscaping work and play-ing field development where we are looking for partnerships with other organiza-tions, businesses, and pri-vate individuals. Somebody might like to donate a tree, for example, in memory of a loved one.

This is the second of several ongoing articles writ-ten with the intent of keeping the community informed on the new high school's progress. In the next one hope to give you a detailed layout of the school itself and explain more about the "green" building approach we are taking.

If you have questions or comments you could contact Roy Brassard at 335-4530 or myself at 335-8575.

The small town with the big idea

TAMARA COLLINS

This past weekend I was in the Crowsnest Pass for "Thunder in the Valley". For those of you who are not familiar with this, it is a HUGE fireworks display held in Blairmore, AB.
Blairmore is a town of about 4,000. Well this past weekend, it was a town of 40,000.

It was the most incredible thing I have ever seen. The fire-works show went for probably half an hour. Everyone left in Every business I went to that day was just packed.

Didsburians, I think we need to get in on this jackpot. This show is getting so much bigger every year. I was there two years ago, and 10,000 people were there.

Maybe if such a show took place in two places, there would not be a concern of it getting too big. We could advertise for each other...

I am just full of ideas on this, and I know the details.

Thunder on the Prairies' has a nice ring to it.

MYRON THOMPSON

Conservative Caucus Holds Emergency Agricultural Meeting

Myron Thompson, MP Wild Rose

Myron Thompson, Mem-ber of Parliament for Wild Rose, spent the first day in Ottawa last week meeting with 50 Conservative caucus colleagues about the pressing crisis in Canada's agriculture sector.

This emergency meeting was convened to discuss ways to pressure the Liberals to end their neglect and indifference toward Canadian farm families.

"Since winning the elec-tion Paul Martin has made no efforts to address this dire situation. If he was serious he would have immediately named a new Min-ister of Agriculture to deal with this crises directly and at a minimum reconvened the Agriculture Committee. The PM has only made time for millionaire businessmen in Sun Valley who have nothing to do with the catindustry," Thompson.

"The Conservative Party has long been committed to the needs of Canada's agri-culture sector. Last February, we proposed a billion dollar aid package that would have greatly helped farmers, while the Liberals stood on the sidelines, stated Thompson.

"I believe that if there was ever a time to reconvene Par-liament, now is that time. The very least we can do as Parliamentarians is to debate the issues surrounding this crises and come up with a game plan. The latest ru-mours suggest Paul Martin will not open Parliament until October 4th. This means our farm families will be waiting another long three months until this issue is even discussed," concluded Thompson.

When we were anticipating our move, and I often wondered just how things would work out, and occasionally got anxious about things not working out more quickly, someone wisely said to me "Don't move today"!!

As I pondered this, I realized that I should be taking each day, doing what I could and then trusting every day would work itself out, and gradually everything that needed to be done would fall in to place. I often take a look at my calendar at the beginning of the week, and when I see all the commitments I have made, I feel tired before the week begins, but if I take each day as it comes, I suddenly have the energy and strength to fulfil all that is necessary to accom-We have 24 hours each day, and it is important we use them to the best advantage, to make the most of each day, and not try to live out tomorrow or next week; but take each day, be thankful for it, and just do those things which we feel we are to do. Many times unexpected situations arise; suddenly our day changes, we need to change gears, and we discover that the additional time and energy needed for this sudden change of plans is there for us.

Life is exciting, and sometimes unpredictable, but if we learn to take 'one day at a time' we will find more fulfilment, less anxiety, and be open to, and even welcome the unexpected. I know people just like this, I am still working on it. Have a good day!!

Thanks to the Ross Ford community

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my appreciation to the Ross Ford community - the parents, teachers, substitutes, educational assistants, janitors, children and the board. First, thank you chil-dren for the gorgeous book of portraits you gave me. I look at it every day - it is gorgeous! Thank you parents, who supported the art program through donations, help with dioramas or other projects, and for attend-ing and assisting with art shows. Mrs. Carol Baerg volunteered faithfully weekly for five years. Mrs. Missikewitz was generous with 'stuff' for the art room. Many parents showed support in art appreciation, donations and encouragement. Mrs. Parsih was our right hand woman with paper maché. Mrs. Tsiras and Mrs. Voegeli helped with Artist of the Month.

Thank you teachers and edu-cational assistants who inspired me with their own art ideas and who have been my family. Art was truly a team effort!

Thank you janitors! Darrell Howden has been consistently dedicated for many years. He has changed tires, unlocked doors, located lost items, loaned tools, taped, wiped up, hammered, and moved things. He also does his job, checking the school several times on weekends as well. He has shut off the kiln when I drove off to Calgary and forgot it. He has unlocked the school when I locked myself out. He is amazing!

Thank you to Rob and Annette, who also have endured our art messes, and have saved pencils, crayons and markers they find on the floor.

Thanks to the board for supplying money for the Art and Music programs and to administration for making sure every child has access

Thanks to the substitute teachers who help us when we can't be there. Mrs. Dorothy Eggins took over for me during a three week teaching stint in Mexico, and did an excellent job

And once again, thank you children. You have inspired, helped out, and amazed me each day. I have been a small cog in a huge wheel, but it was the most exhilarating time. I learned so much from you all!

Sincerely, Sandi Henderson

Thanks to the Good

Dear Editor;

Please let me acknowledge and thank the good-hearted people in our community who volunteer, whether it is in our community events, caring for family at home or for others within our care facilities, or who offer help when none is asked of them.

A while ago, I was transporting a large water tank and had stopped because the tank had come untied. A gentleman stopped his company truck (probably on his way home from a long day's work), took out some rope, retied my tank to my trailer, and left, refusing to be paid or to tell me where to return the rope. I had ne-glected to ask his name, and soon forgot the company name

Gophers Beware: Rodenator Pro hits local holes

by Tamara Collins

The Rodenator Pro is a ne addition in the ongoing fight ainst gophers in the area

Darryl Janzen, of Didsbury, ordered the machine from the States, this past spring. The ma chine uses a mixture of oxygen and propane, which is injected into the gopher hole and ignited. 97% oxy-gen, and 3% propane, is the mix-ture that sends gophers into a con-cussion. The oxygen is what gives the burn.

"It is quite the blast," said Janzen. "Sometimes you get ground flying up three of four feet."

The company who makes the machine claims it will also collapse the tunnel system the gopher has made, but in Janzen's experience this is not always the case

The Rodenator Pro is approved by the US Environment Protec tion Agency, and it does not affect crops.

"It is about 20 seconds worth of gas mixture," said Janzen. "And it depends on the hole structure, many will be killed."

Sixty to eighty percent of the holes injected are what Janzen considers a "good kill ". Janzen has spent time investigating other ways to solve the go-pher problems, and feels the Rodenator Pro is the best one. "There are three popular ways of dealing with the problem," said Janzen. "You can pump ammonia into the hole, pump foam laced with mustard in, or the one I am

None of these methods are 100% effective, they all have there drawbacks.

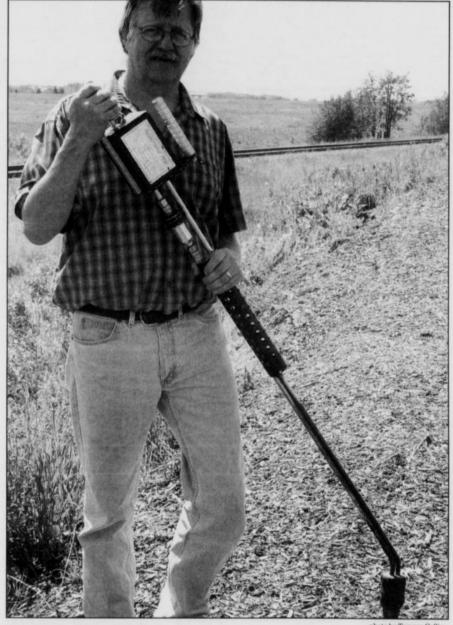

"I looked at the pros and cons of each," said Janzen. "This one came out the best. I am very happy with it "

Janzen has been working ap proximately three nights a week, plus some weekends with the ma chine, going out to people's land and using it on gopher holes. He also rents out the machine, for those who would rather do it them-

"I have been all over the place th it," said Janzen. "As far as Saskatchewan. I am getting quite a few calls

Janzen discovered the machine when his brother-in-law was complaining about his gopher prob-

"I looked into solutions for him and discovered the Rodenator.'

said Janzen.

Janzen estimates it would take approximately 10 hours to do 30

"It is very loud, ear plugs are necessary," said Janzen.
"You also have to watch for flying debris. It is perfectly safe though

The unit itself has four types of valves protecting the gas from coming back into the machine and exploding it.

Janzen is presently working on ideas of his own for a gopher trap. "I am looking into making something more cost effective," said Janzen. "I have been working on a design for about a month now, and I am hoping to have it ready by next February.

Janzen is now set up as a dealer, so through him you can arrange to get a machine

Only a short time has passed since last report, and as a result, this column will be equally short.

We are still getting a feel for the new rescue unit. There are a few horses under the hood, and it is quite top heavy so we have to be careful when turning corners. Training officer O'Dell has said that we can do all the driver training we want until we each feel comfortable behind the wheel.

On Canada Day, the fireworks were fantastic as usual. We didn't have as much money to spend as last year, but it was still a wonderful show. The crew that put the show together did a great

Sun Safety Tips

Since most experts agree that up to 80 per cent of skin damage can occur before an 18th birthday, taking the time to ensure that your children are protected could help them avoid skin cancer complications later in life. Most skin cancers do not appear until 10 to 25 years after harmful sun exposure. Here are some tips from the Canadian Dermatology Association that can help prevent skin cancer and extreme sun exposure:

Keep babies under one year of age out of direct sunlight (ei-ther in a covered stroller, under an umbrella, or in the shade).

- Teach children to seek out shade (trees, buildings, porches,

Marg Fisher; a glance into the past of Midway school

Karlee Stevens

To many people, looking back into the history of Midway School is something that is full of loved ones, smiling faces and memories that are irreplaceable. For 92-year-old Marjorie Fisher, who now resides in a seniors lodge in Carstairs, the time she spent at this small country school, is a time that she'll never forget.

Fisher began her teaching career, which she was sort of forced into at Bancroft school in 1946.

"The superintendent came to me and said, 'we don't have a teacher for your school,' so what are you doing to do about it?" Fisher explained. "Every June I would quit and every September they would ask me to come back."

me to come back."
At the small Bancroft School she taught grades one and two, and during her time at Bancroft School she had the opportunity to teach her two own sons, Austin and Norman.
Bancroft School had fi-

Bancroft School had finally found enough teachers and despite Fisher having a huge love for children, she never really ever wanted to be a full time teacher because she continually tried to get out of the education system.

But, after earning the experience at Bancroft School her friends and family saw that she was a valuable teacher and was asked to teach at another school.

Despite Fisher wanting to get out of the classroom so she could spend more time at home agreed to go teach at another area school called, Scebertbill. This was an offer she couldn't refuse because her love for children is endless.

As the school division was trying to save money there was a consolidation of schools in the area, and soon one school was built which for the past 50 years has served as, 'The Heart of the Community.' Midway School was built, in fact on the corner of one of Fisher's quarters of land.

With Fisher having the

With Fisher having the most experience in the area she was one of the first people asked to work at Midway School, and in fact she was asked specifically to become the school principal come the school principal.

Fisher, however, didn't want the responsibilities of being principal but agreed to teach and she was given the choice of what grades she wanted to teach and she chose to teach grades one and two in the school which went up to grade nine.

As Fisher reminisces about her time spent at this country school, she remembers playing with her students at recess, with their games and ensuring that no one sort burt.

one got hurt.
"I would go out every recess and noon hour and play with the kids. If they wanted to play baseball, I would ump. If they wanted to pay football, I would also be the ump," she said, as her eyes lite up, thinking back to her teaching career which she was forced into, but in the end loved.

As initiative for her students to become better athletes, the friendly rivalry with a similar school, Reed Ranch, caused her students to work harder to try to beat them at the annual sports day. So, looking back, she can remember them working and practicing very hard in order to be able to have bragging power about beating the other school.

Even though the 21 years she taught at Midway were ones that she has pleasant memories of, she also remembers the school struggling in order to get teachers to work at the small, rural school.

"It was hard getting teachers out there, all the young girls wanted to teach in town," said Fisher.

Despite Fisher not wanting the responsibilities of being principal, in the 1960's, the principal of Midway School took a year off to go back to school. During this time, as Fisher thought the job was only temporary, she agreed to take on the duties.

"He was suppose to come back, but in the end. he never came back so I was left in the principal position until I told the school division they had to find someone else," she said.

During her time as principal, which she held for three years, she was also teaching grades six, seven, and eight at the same time.

She stepped down as principal because she felt she wasn't spending enough time with her husband and her two sons. But, fortunately at this time there was a position open in the lower grades and she began to once again teach grades one and two at Midway School.

"When I taught in a country school, I taught all the grades up to grade 9. I loved it all"

In 1975, when Fisher was 63, she took her teachers pension, that she very much earned thoughout the past years and began traveling around the world. She and her husband at-

She and her husband attended the World's fair in Montreal in 1976 and continued to travel all around the world to places like Europe

Fisher hopes to attend Midways 50th anniversary this coming weekend, July 24 and 25 at Midway school, because she feels that Midway School is an essential part of the community, and she looks forward to seeing many of her past students there.

ton are pretty tough...some of them don't back down easily for a win Howden is used to tough competitors. The 15-yearold has been playing ball since the age of five back when his family lived in Kamloops. "I really enjoy it," says Howden. "I've played a lot of different po-sitions, but right now I pitch and play short stop."

The Games, which run from July 22nd -25th, take in eight different zones from across the province. "This is the first time I've ever been to the Summer ing that the same is true for many of his team-mates.

Once in Okotoks, the team will be staying at one of the dorms at the school for the duration of the week-end. "We will play three games and if we win those, we will go onto the Championships.

While the excitement for Summer Games mounting, Howden and his team are working at staying focused by preparing them-selves with extra practices throughout the week.

"We are just trying to keep our heads in baseball right now and trying not to think about much of anything else."

Howden is thankful to his coach and assistant coach for all the direction they for all the direction they have offered this season and is inspired by at least one area-player's skills.

"I guess my biggest role model right now would have to be Derek Olsen. His dad Ernie Olsen is our assistant coach and they are both really good.

Summer Rocks in Didsbury

Can't decide what to do with the kids this summer? Why not let them start their own Rock Band?

No, you won't have to end them on the road...just down the street to the Didsbury Memorial Complex's Multipurpose Room. That's where the Town of Didsbury is hosting their latest summer camp enti-tled, "Start your own Rock Band" August 9th -13th . No experience is necessary at this week-long program put on by Top Note Music School. Included are basic instruction in guitar, drums and singing along with skill enhancement such as microphone control and several performance techniques.

Corporate Services Coordinator for the Town, Michelle Honeyman, says the camp is open to anyone between the ages of 11 - 16 years and is ideal for those curious about where their musical talents might lie and how to best apply them.
"We just thought this would be one more thing

teens could do over the summer in Didsbury. It's a great chance to get together and have some fun.'

The cost to enroll in the camp is $70.00. For more information, contact the Town at 335-7369.

In other related Town news, Didsbury is working on putting together a Community Living Guide. Honeyman asks that anyone with programs or courses being held in and around town to contact her to be included

"It's a great way to get exposure and it's free. Honeyman says the Guide will be strictly for Didsbury and area courses and programs and aims at having it published quarterly.

'We are working at having a Community Directory on the back as well to include all the service organizations and groups around town." The first issue is due out this fall.

Focus on the Family

QUESTION: Do you think it is healthy for a husband and wife to work together, and to be in each other's company 24 hours a day?

DR. DOBSON: That sometimes works out fine. It depends on the couple. I can tell you, however, what is typical. According to behavioral researchers, the healthiest marriages and those with the highest sexual voltage are those that "breathe." These relationships move from a time of closeness and tenderness to a more distant posture, and then come together for another reunion as the cycle concludes. This is why it's not always advantageous for a husband and wife to work together or to concentrate exclusively on each other in the absence of friends and colleagues outside the family. There is something about the diversity of interests and activities by each partner that keeps a couple from consuming each other and burning keeps a couple from consuming each other and burning out the relationship in the short run. Marriage is, after all, a marathon and not a sprint. Husbands and wives need to maintain a regenerating system that will keep love alive for a lifetime. Cultivating a healthy interest in many things is one big step in that direction.

QUESTION: You often describe marriages where the wife's emotional needs go unmet because the husband is a "workaholic." That description is scary to me because I can see my own marriage in what you said. I'm a student who has to work full time just to make ends meet, and I rarely see my family. We have a baby and a toddler, and my wife is pretty unhappy with me. What can I do? If I'm going to get my degree, we have to sacrifice for a while.

DR. DOBSON: Your self-discipline is admirable and I hope you reach your goals. A word of caution is in order, however. No amount of success is worth the loss of your family. You and your wife are in a high-risk category for marital problems. The bonding that should occur in the first decade requires time together — time that can't be given if it is absorbed elsewhere. My advice is to hold on to your dreams, but take a little longer to fulfill them. Success will wait but a happy family will not.

QUESTION: What do you say to the woman who tolerates infidelity in her husband because she has no financial resources? What if she is afraid to confront him because he could leave her in poverty?

DR. DOBSON: I have no simple answers for her. Life can place us between rocks and hard places where problems seem almost unsolvable! Such is the plight of mothers raising children with little or no financial help from their ex-husbands. According to the Department of Health and Human Services, this is the primary source of poverty in America today. Almost half of all people living below the poverty line are divorced women with children. The same survey revealed that half of the divorced mothers do not receive the court-ordered amount of child support from the ex-husbands. I'm pleased that the federal government is taking steps, at last, to deal with "deadbeat dads" It's about time! In a society that is regulated to death with laws and ordinances for virtually every human activity, it has taken us intolerably long to deal with parents who won't care for their kids. For now, impoverished moms are faced with extremely difficult questions when spousal infidelity is disclosed.

QUESTION: My husband and I are divorced, so I have to handle all the discipline of the children myself. How does this change the recommendations you've made about discipline in the home?

DR. DOBSON: Not at all. The principles of good discipline remain the same, regardless of the family setting. The procedures do become somewhat harder for one parent to implement since they have no one to support them when the children become testy. Single mothers and fathers have to play both roles, which is not easily done. Nevertheless, children do not make allowances for difficult circumstances. Parents must earn their respect or they will not receive it. will not receive it.

Mountainview 4H Dairy News

Jan Milne, Mountainview Dairy Club Reporter

As the 4H year winds down, members of the Mountainview 4H Dairy Club participate in their annual Achievement Day, where everyone brings the calves they choose for the 2003/2004 4H year, to show-case them in front of a judge and fellow 4H'ers. More importantly, we show what we have learned throughout the Mountainview had our Achievement day on June 28/ 29 at the Olds Cow Palace with a clipping competition the night of the 28th and the show the day of the 29th. I have to say the classes were very tight with some strong very tigne animals. This year's Grand Cham-pion Calf is Ruti Bruclee Dora shown by Nicolas Renggli. I congratulate all Renggli. I congratulate all of our club members who participated in the events and gave it your all. Some members of our club are attending the Provincial Dairy show in Red Deer, Al-berta, July 20, 21 and 22. Participants participate in the same events as Achievement day but at a Provincial level. Members that do well at Provincials have the opportunity to show at the Western Canadian Classic held in Brandon, Manitoba this year.

I would like to thank our Sponsors for Achievement day, and of course the judges who did an awesome job placing those classes of Holsteins. Judge for the Clipping competition was Wright, Showmanship and Confirmation classes. Flaman, and the Ringman was Logan Chalack. I must say I had fun writing the articles for our club but am looking forour club but am looking for-ward to a different job next year. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank all of the 4H members and their families. I will be handing over my pen to an-other lucky Club member for next year's Club reporter. Until then, stay safe and have a fun summer. have a fun summer.

THERE'S NO ALTERNATIVE TO CONCRETE

Concrete is the basement building material with all the advantages.

Its a proven performer, Rugged Tough, Durable. A concrete basement will never burn or rot.

And concrete is safe. Quality controlled, concrete needs no toxic chemicals which may be hazardous to building occupants.

Quality Doesn't Cost - It Pays

Concrete is an energy-wise choice. A concrete basement needs little heat or airconditioning. And concrete walls are easily insulated.

Economically, concrete is a good investment. A concrete basement will add years of life to the foundation and considerable dollars to the resale value of your building.

Add up the advantages. There's simply no alternative to quality controlled concrete. The best basement building material.

DHS field hockey girls compete in Summer Games

by Tamara Collins

Didsbury will compete in field hockey at the Alberta Summer Games for the first Seven Didsbury girls have been practicing hard and shaping up their skills in preparation for the Games. Jolene Shultz, grade 11, Sarah Kemmere, DHS graduate, Sarah Thompson, DHS graduate, Alyssa Smith grade 11, Jacque Chernow, Triona Richmond grade 12, and Brianne Byiers grade 11, are the seven girls who played on the Didsbury High Field Hockey team, who were selected by scouts to compete in the Games.

The DHS Field Hockey team just started in March. Coach Jenny Johnson who played on a national team, kick started the DHS team.

"She is an awesome coach," said Kemmere.
"Alot of people had doubts about how well we would do, but because of Jenny came out better than lots of other teams.

The girls were scouted when they played STS. The scout said they had a very powerful team.

"We are a very skilled team," said Kemmere. "I am really looking forward to the challenge."

the challenge."

Kemmere is grateful for the extra playing time, since recently graduating.

"I thought after I graduated it would be the end, but now I get to play for a few extra months," said Kemmere

In the past week the girls have practiced five times, prior weeks they practiced prior weeks they practiced once or twice a week.

"I just really hope we hold our ground at the Games," said Kemmere. "We are all very excited."

"It will be fun, I'm really looking forward to it," added Shultz.

The girls will be working with a new coach throughout the Games, but remain very grateful to Johnson.

"We really want to thank her," said the girls. "This is all because of her and we are all because of her and we are very grateful."

The scheduled games for the team are on July 23rd, 24th, and 25th. The games will be held in the Okotoks area. Rumor has it, that if the girls win, their coaches have to wear pink for a week!

You go girls!

Putting Contest was hilarious and there were some real good measurements and some that were pretty long! Rita Krebs took first prize for the Ladies, Marty Budnyk won over all the men.

A great BBQ to finish off the day. The two charities, the Didsbury Scouting Groups and the Mountain View Food Bank will be very pleased when they each receive a cheque for $1,453.00, pictures later. This is all made possible by the generosity of the fol-lowing donors: Ward Value Drug Mart, Didsbury Liquor &
